In addition to being an acclaimed violinist, Lisa is also an established illustrator whose work has featured in some of the most popular children's books published in Australia and worldwide.

Lisa's first commissioned children's picture book was Can I Cuddle the Moon? (author Kerry Brown) published in 2010 by Scholastic Press. It has since been published in Taiwan and Korea, and illustrations from the book used by Sydney Opera House in their highly popular 'Babies Proms' series.

The following year Lisa was shortlisted for a Crichton Award for New Illustrators, a notable achievement for her first published book, and her illustrations from Can I Cuddle The Moon? exhibited at the Dromkeen National Centre in Victoria and featured on ABC TV's popular program, Play School.

In 2012, Scholastic Press invited Lisa to illustrate Mummy's Kisses (author Paula Clark) and Bushland Lullaby (author Sally Odgers) which were released that year, followed by Rainforest Lullaby (author Sally Odgers) in 2013. This last was shortlisted for the Environment Award for Children's Literature 2014 by the Wilderness Society. Blue Island Press use Lisa's artwork for their greeting cards.
