A SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM PHILIP BUNTING:

Don't forget if things ever feel a little so-so, ho-hum or even a bit hum-drum out there, just take a look up at the night sky and consider where you are. You are aboard the most marvellous spaceship in the universe. You are travelling through space—right now—at over 30km per second! It takes a LOT of things to go right for us to be here together—we are all very lucky. Just remember to ride that luck, and enjoy your mission.

An astronomical THANK YOU from us to every one of the 1,980,280 readers who joined us for National Simultaneous Storytime 2021!

Some of the fabulous feedback from this year's participating readers...

Maria Wood from Gympie State School has been a long-time supporter of NSS. Maria is about to retire and wanted to go out with a BANG with this year's NSS!

"All classes joined together in their school hall which where she created a dark space for the children to enter into. They then projected a series of star constellations and galaxies onto the ceiling while ambient space music played in the background. Then they used a rocket timer to excitedly count down to the 'blast off' reading by astronaut Dr Shannon Walker."

Thank you Maria for creating such a special NSS experience for your students to enjoy this year's NSS book 'Give me some Space!' by Philip Bunting and best wishes for your retirement!

"We had a great day today at our school—so many of our staff members dressed up for the occasion! We really loved the book this year and that it was read from space—great idea!!"

Ellen Smith, Exeter Primary School

"Thank you so much for a fantastic event. Our Library and Science service teams teamed up to present this to our Prep-grade 6 cohort. They all loved it. Please pass on our thanks to Shannon!"

Elle Geddis, Melbourne Grammar

NATIONAL SIMULTANEOUS STORYTIME 2021 WAS OUT OF THIS WORLD!

2021 has been the BIGGEST, most successful year yet for the Australian Library and Information Association's National Simultaneous Storytime, overreaching the goal of #1millionkidsreading across Australia and New Zealand.

ON WEDNESDAY 19th May, 2021 at 11am AEST, almost 2 million readers from over 27 countries including Afghanistan, Australia, Canada, Cook Islands, Egypt, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Kuwait, Malaysia, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Niue, Pakistan, Peru, Singapore, Switzerland, Thailand, United Arab Emirates, United Kingdom, United States of America, Vanuatu & Vietnam joined in for National Simultaneous Storytime.

This year was especially exciting as ALIA along with Scholastic, the Australian Space Agency and the Office of the Chief Scientist came together to organise a special reading from space with astronaut Dr Shannon Walker from the International Space Station.

Author and Illustrator of 'Give me some Space!' Philip Bunting, counted down to the launch of the official reading event, hosted by The Australian Space Agency's Australian Discovery Centre in Adelaide, as hundreds of thousands joined in from around the globe to watch as Astronaut Dr Shannon Walker read Philip's book.

In addition to the official reading, hundreds of events took place all over Australia and New Zealand, as well as a live streamed reading from Captain Starlight of the Starlight Children's Foundation to kids in hospital across the country.

Don't forget you can see Shannon's reading of 'Give me some Space!' anytime by visiting the authors website at philipbunting.com

A big astronomical thank you from us to every one of the 1,980,280 readers who joined in on the most successful National Simultaneous Storytime ever.

We know that you love NSS just as much as we do, so please remember to register for next year by visiting alia.org.au/nss and stay tuned for a special announcement from ALIA in October this year!
